2011 DIRECTORY OF THE UNITED STATES CONFERENCE OF CATHOLIC BISHOPS COMMISSION ON CERTIFICATION AND ACCREDITATION

Mission Statement

The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops Commission on Certification and Accreditation (USCCB/CCA) serves as an accrediting commission of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, establishes accreditation standards, policies and procedures, and accredits ministry formation programs listed in The Official Catholic Directory that prepare people for ministry. The USCCB/CCA also establishes and approves certification standards and procedures for the certification of specialized ecclesial ministers by arch/dioceses and organizations.

Scope of Accreditation

The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops has designated the USCCB/CCA as a separately incorporated accrediting commission to accredit post-secondary ministry formation and CPE programs that prepare people for understanding their baptismal call to service in the Church and in the world. Programs may be sponsored by arch/dioceses, colleges, health care institutions, seminaries, universities and other institutions that are listed in The Official Catholic Directory and are authorized to conduct post-secondary educational programs in the United States. To apply for and maintain accreditation by the USCCB/CCA, CPE programs must provide evidence of compliance with the accreditation standards in the current publication of the Accreditation Handbook for Clinical Pastoral Education Programs. Ministry formation programs must provide evidence of compliance with the accreditation standards in the current publication of the Accreditation Handbook for Ministry Formation Programs. Accredited programs and programs preparing for accreditation are listed in this directory.

After the period of initial accreditation, the USCCB/CCA collaborates with the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education (ACPE) on joint accreditation site reviews. The ACPE is a intracultural, multifaith organization devoted to providing education and improving the quality of ministry and pastoral care offered by spiritual caregivers of all faiths through the clinical educational methods of Clinical Pastoral Education.

Scope of Approval of Certification Standards and Procedures

The USCCB/CCA approves certification standards and procedures for Catholic organizations to certify specialized ministers. Certifying organizations submitting certification standards and procedures to the USCCB/CCA may be arch/diocesan departments, national organizations of specialized ministers listed in The Official Catholic Directory, and organizations sponsored by state Catholic conferences. Organizations seeking approval from the USCCB/CCA shall provide documentation to indicate that certification standards, policies and procedures are in compliance with those listed in the current publication of the Certification Handbook for specialized ministries. Organizations with approved certification standards and procedures and those preparing to submit certification standards and procedures to the USCCB/CCA are listed in this directory.

Board of Directors

The USCCB/CCA is governed by a board of directors. The directors are appointed by the president of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops. The board of directors and the USCCB/CCA executive director are listed at the end of this directory and are available for consultation.

This USCCB/CCA Directory is posted on our website at www.usccbcca.org

The Ministry Formation Program, sponsored by the Diocese of St. Augustine, is a planned process of education, formation, and practical training for leaders in ministry. It involves a three-year comprehensive program of study in Sacred Scripture, tradition, Catholic beliefs, sacraments, and morality. Participants are provided opportunities for theological and spiritual development, and for relating their own gifts to the needs of their parish or diocese. A supervised practicum follows in the fall of the third year. The satisfactory completion of the three-year program is celebrated at the Cathedral Basilica of St. Augustine. The program is offered at The Marywood Center for Spirituality and Ministry, the diocesan retreat center. Please direct inquiries to Erin McGeever, Program Director.

The Ministry Formation Program, sponsored by the Diocese of St. Petersburg Lay Pastoral Ministry Institute, offers a four-year developmental process for the formation of lay ministers. Pastors and parish staff of the churches to which participants belong are involved in identifying candidates for the program, and assisting them in discerning the ministries to which they are called. The program focuses on the formation of participants in the areas of spirituality, theology, pastoral skills, and personal development. In order to establish a skilled corps of leaders for family, community, and church ministry, the first year provides participants an opportunity to discern their call to ministry in the church and in the community. The last three years provide participants with more formal academic training, consisting of four eight-hour modules of classes and two full retreat days each year. In addition to these sessions, the program offers theological reflection components and mentoring groups on an ongoing basis. Please direct inquiries to Sr. Marlene Weidenborner, O.S.F., Program Director.

The program, sponsored by Loyola University Health System (LUHS), is dually accredited by USCCB/CCA and the ACPE to offer Clinical Pastoral Education. Loyola University Medical Center (LUMC) is a level-one trauma center located ten miles west of downtown Chicago. LUHS offers intensive CPE Summer, Fall and Winter internships at the academic Medical Center where the patient population ranks sixth in the nation in acuity of illness and 40% of the 523-licensed beds are ICU. In addition, LUHS offers a twenty-week Extended Unit, January-May, for 20 hrs/wk with clinical placement at Loyola's community hospital, Gottlieb Memorial Hospital. (Due to budgetary constraints, our residency program has been suspended.)

The LUHS CPE program offers supervised clinical learning in both inpatient and outpatient settings, individualized mentoring by the staff of eight full-time and six part-time chaplains, and opportunities for working with interdisciplinary teams. Specialties at LUMC include cardiology with a heart transplant unit, oncology with a bone marrow transplant unit and a large outpatient cancer center, ER/trauma with a specialty burn unit, women's and children's health, including a 50-bed neonatal unit, neurology and neurosurgery with an in-patient rehabilitation unit and general medicine, with dialysis and renal transplant services. Gottlieb Memorial Hospital has lower acuity, a slower pace and neighborhood-based health care. Supervisors are Rev. Jim Creighton, S.J., certified by NACC and ACPE and Jerry Kaelin, ACPE Supervisor.

The Ecclesial Lay Ministry Program (ELM) is the foundational formation program for laity serving in ministerial leadership positions in the diocese. The formation program consists of four components: human formation through mentoring, academic formation through ten two-credit hour introductory theology courses, pastoral formation through fourteen pastoral and professional skill workshops, and spiritual formation through classes, workshops, retreats and ongoing assessments. The ELM program is offered at sites throughout the diocese in cooperation with Saint Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Indiana, which governs and oversees the academic portion of the program. Laity who complete the program will have: grown in their self-knowledge, attained a basic understanding of the Church's teachings and traditions, acquired pastoral and professions skills that will assist them in their ministries, and participated in a spiritual formation process to further develop their own prayer life and strengthen their communal worship and experience of God in daily life. This is a certificate program. For those holding a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution, there is the option of attaining an additional baccalaureate degree in Lay Ecclesial Ministry from Saint Joseph's College. Program participants can receive equivalency credit for prior ministerial experience or training as well as for theology credits earned at the undergraduate or graduate level. For more information, please contact Dr. Anne D. Roat, Director of the Office for Adult Catechesis.

This CPE program, sponsored by the Diocese of Brooklyn, is accredited to offer Clinical Pastoral Education. The people in the diocese speak more than 45 different languages and live in ethnic and cultural neighborhoods. Brooklyn is the only totally urban diocese in the United States, and its people have the social, economic and varying religious needs common to residents in any large international city. The program reflects the marketplace in which students are ministering to the most vulnerable. Its resources include those of Queens Hospital Center, supported by the NYC Health and Hospital's Corporation and the Diocese of Brooklyn. Queens Hospital Center is a teaching municipal hospital with a large and developing campus. The hospital provides a full range of health and psychiatric services, mainly to the population of Southern Queens. This 400-bed facility has approximately 183,130 inpatient admissions, 452,378 outpatients, and 96,540 emergency room visits annually. It maintains Center of Excellence in four of its Departments. Student interns are provided the opportunity to minister to patients of varied racial, cultural, and religious backgrounds, and function alongside a multidisciplinary professional staff as part of an ecumenical ministerial team. Student interns specializing in prison ministry are assigned to a New York City correctional facility. The CPE program is conducted throughout the week, with varied schedules for students who are employed as chaplains. Please direct inquiries to Sr. Julie Houser, CSJ, Program Director and CPE Supervisor.

The Ministry Formation Program, sponsored by the Diocese of Rockville Centre Pastoral Formation Institute, is a three-year program. The program is an invitation for participants to enter into an integrated process of spiritual, theological, and psychological development, leading to the establishment of a skilled and confident corps of leaders for family, community, and church ministry. The first two years consist of core formation and education that is based in experiential learning. During this period, participants attend weeknights, weekdays, or Saturday classes, and three workshop weekends per year, for a total of more than 400 hours of prayer, study, and faith sharing each year. Participants in the third year are offered a choice of ministry tracks which include class work, theological reflection groups, mentor assistance, and a supervised practicum. Ministry leadership tracks offer specialization in small Christian communities; parish social ministry, the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults; pastoral care of the sick, spiritual growth; tribunal advocacy; evangelization; prison ministry; ministry to the third age, catechetical, family, and youth ministry; stewardship, bereavement, and marriage preparation and enrichment. Religious from many communities come to the program for a renewal experience, and some congregations send novices for initial formation. Please direct inquiries to Estelle Peck, Director of the Pastoral Formation Institute.

The program, sponsored by St. Mary Medical Center, is accredited by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops Commission on Certification and Accreditation and the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education to offer Level 1, Level 2 and Supervisory Clinical Pastoral Education. Two suburban hospitals currently provide the clinical site and pastoral context for placement of chaplain interns: St. Mary Medical Center, Langhorne, PA and Holy Redeemer Hospital and Medical Center, Meadowbrook, PA. The Diocese of Camden is the third partner in this diverse program. In addition to sending students/seminarians to summer, fall and extended units, supervisory resources have made it possible to offer uniquely designed programs using the formal CPE model, but tailored to meet the needs of the diverse levels of formation within the Diocese of Camden.

Chaplain Interns are offered a variety of clinical experiences within a continuum of care related to maternity, NICU, general surgery, trauma, critical care, eldercare, oncology, hospice and rehabilitation. The many services accompanying inpatient and outpatient specialties may be extended to chaplain interns in Level II as they seek areas of interest for development and specialization.

The program, sponsored by CHRISTUS Santa Rosa Health Care (CSRHC), is accredited to offer Clinical Pastoral Education and Supervisory CPE. CSRHC is multi-specialty, Multi-site faith-based health care system and provides the most community value/charity care of all Catholic health care systems nationwide. Ministry in acute and chronic illness settings within a predominantly Hispanic Catholic population further develops the pastoral identity and praxis of students. Ministry experiences with infants and children challenge students to integrate new poignant experiences with academic theology. Evolving spiritual assessments and charting tools provide students with a spiritual and theological vocabulary to describe interaction with patients, families, and staff. Interdisciplinary ministry increases students' comprehension of ethics, spirituality in the workplace, suffering, healing, and end-of-life issues and rituals.

The program offers students varied cultural experiences in a hospitable city. Completing CPE at CSRHD, students will be more effectively prepared for ministry and certification as chaplains, having experienced extensive and varied theological reflections processes, developed their own theology of ministry, learned Spanish for pastoral interactions, and ministered alongside certified chaplains and a CPE supervisor whose primary focus is the learning growth of students. Students successfully completing CPE units may request that the units be applied toward the partial completion of a Doctor of Ministry degree through a cooperative agreement with Oblate School of Theology in San Antonio. Stipends and benefits are available for full-time residency students. Please direct inquiries to Mary Davis, Manager, and Spiritual Care/CPE Supervisor.

The three-week Hispanic Ministry in the 21st Century program, a semester or year for Hispanic Pastoral Ministry, Intensive Pastoral Spanish, and Intensive Pastoral English are the focused components of the accredited program sponsored by the Mexican American Catholic College (MACC). MACC, sponsor of the accredited program, is a national Catholic institution founded in 1972, as the Mexican American Cultural Center, for the preparation of leaders to respond to the religious and social needs of Hispanic communities. While MACC remains rooted in the Mexican American experience and focused on the development of Latino Leadership, MACC has evolved into a Catholic College offering a bi-literate, multicultural formation program that can lead to a BA and an MA in Pastoral Ministry, and is at the service of all cultures, working for the common good of the church and society in the United States. The program offers a comprehensive curriculum for adult and youth leaders as they develop and implement processes for intercultural understanding, awareness of racism, and systemic change within their communities. The Gospel and the teachings of the church animate MACC's mission to empower and educate leaders for service in a culturally diverse church and society. The program furthers the dialogue between faith and culture by providing students communal, interactive experiences in theology, pastoral ministry, Spanish and English language studies, and research of Hispanic and intercultural realities. The courses in the program are both academic and experiential. The formation of students includes learning information, skills, and processes to appreciate their own giftedness for the service of others as they experience understanding, harmony, and growth within an intercultural community. As a Catholic health ministry, St. Vincent's places high priority on spiritual and pastoral services to patients and families. There is a strong supportive staff community. It has often been said that when you enter St. Vincent's there is something different that is immediately palpable. We believe this is the spirituality that rests in the very cohesive staff community.

In the interest of continuing to have qualified persons to minister to our patients and patients everywhere, St. Vincent's is investing in a Clinical Pastoral Education Program. Our hopes are to be accredited by both the USCCB/CCA and ACPE since we also place a high priority on diversity. We will be receiving our first students to begin CPE on May 25, 2010.

We plan on conducting two units a year: an extended unit from September to May and an intensive unit for eleven weeks during the summer. The program will consist of sessions characteristic of CPE: verbatim seminars with theological reflection, interpersonal relationship sessions, didactics and individual supervisory conferences. Peer groups may range from three to seven students and will be diversified in religious persuasions and cultures. Tuition will be $650 with an application fee of $50. Sister Margaret Dougherty, a Daughter of Charity and a supervisor certified by both ACPE and NACC, will be the supervisor.

The program, sponsored by the Diocese of Pensacola-Tallahassee Institute for Ministry Formation, provides a four-year ministry formation program for participants in an integrated process of spiritual, theological, and psychological development. The goal is to develop a corps of confident and skilled leaders for ministry in the church. The first year is a year of discernment where participants spend time studying and reflecting on core tenets of the faith to discern their specific call to ministry and/or the diaconate. Included in this year are sessions on theological reflection, church history, introduction to theology, ministry, and communication skills. A day of recollection begins the year, and a retreat completes the year. The next three years include courses on the Old Testament, New Testament, Ecclesiology, Sacraments, Morality/Catholic Social Teaching, Christology, Canon Law, and Pastoral Counseling. Each year workshops will include skills and topics such as ministerial relationships, diversity, group dynamic and facilitation skills, styles of leadership, conflict resolution, team building, problem solving, volunteers and collaboration, and legal and ethical issues. Reflection days and retreats will be part of the spiritual formation each year. Additional years of specialized study will be offered in liturgical ministry, tribunal advocate, youth/young adult ministry, spiritual direction, ministry to families, ministry to engaged couples, and other ministries as determined by the diocese. Participants completing the core four-year program will receive a certificate of completion from the diocese. Participants in a specialized ministry may be certified by the responsible diocesan office. Please direct inquiries to one of the Co-Directors: Msgr. James Flaherty, J.C.L., J.V., or Sr. Margaret Kuntz, A.S.C.J.

Mercy Hospital, located in Portland, Maine is initiating a CPE program that will be dually accredited by USCCB/CCA and ACPE. The hospital has recently opened a facility on the beautiful Fore River and is transitioning to this new facility. Mercy Hospital follows in the tradition of Catherine McAuley, the foundress of the Sisters of Mercy. Her focus was to provide excellent, compassionate ministry with a special care for the poor and the disadvantaged. The Mercy Hospital CPE program follows that mission to bring a healing heart to patients, clients' families, and staff. Ministry opportunities include the healthcare setting of Mercy Hospital along with community outreach. Placements in the community include Mercy's nationally respected Recovery Center in Westbrook; Gary's House, a facility away from home for families who have a loved one in crisis and McAuley Residence, a facility for homeless or abused women and their children. CPE interns also serve as chaplains with the Portland Police Department. Portland as an immigrant community allows students creative opportunities to work collaboratively with a diverse population. CPE units will be an extended unit from September to April and the traditional full-time summer unit. Contact Rev. John T. Crabb, SJ, Director of Clinical Pastoral Education and Director of the Pastoral Care Department, an NACC certified CPE Supervisor and ACPE certified CPE Supervisor.

The Ministry Certification Program conducted by the Archdiocese of Portland in Oregon is a non-degree program that meets the educational needs of adult in faith formation and lay ecclesial ministerial leaders alike. It is divided into two levels, each level culminating in the award of either a Basic Ministry or Advanced Ministry Certificate. Each level is designed to meet selected standards of National Standards for Lay Ecclesial Ministers. At the Basic Certificate level, the program includes both face-to face classroom courses conducted in a parish setting and online classes. Currently, courses that lead to one of the three specializations at the Advanced Ministry Certificate level – Director of Religious Education, Pastoral Associate or Liturgist/Director of Music Ministry – are only offered in a face-to-face setting during an intensive week of study held during the summer. During Study Week, students at both levels can take up to two classes per day in order to complete their certificate within a 2 to 4-year period. Please address inquiries to the Director of Ministry Formation, Jerilyn E. Felton, MAIS, MAAT.

The Ministry Formation Program, sponsored by the University of Dallas School of Ministry, offers formation for dedicated men and women to assume responsibility for leadership and ministry in the diocese as deacons, religious educators, pastoral administrators, youth ministers, liturgists, hospital chaplains, family life ministers, and other ministries to which they are called.

The program prepares participants to engage in the church's life and mission that is full, conscious, active, and effective. Formation blends academic knowledge with spiritual formation and pastoral skills. Participants are encouraged to discover their gifts, and to develop them for ministry in a variety of pastoral settings. From its beginning, the Institute has sought to promote critical reflection on the role of the minister in the church, on the richness of the church's tradition, and on the essential need for specialized ministries within the church. The Institute also offers graduate degrees, certificates, and adult faith formation programs on campuses in North Texas, North Louisiana, and Rome, Italy. The National Association for Lay Ministry (NALM) has approved standards for the certification of coordinators of parish life, pastoral associates, and pastoral ministers. NALM is a professional organization that supports, educates, and advocates for lay ministers, and promotes the development of lay ministry in the church. NALM achieves its mission by providing leadership, voice, and vision for the ongoing development of lay ministry by collaborating with the National Association for Church Personnel Administrators, the National Conference for Catechetical Leadership, the National Federation for Catholic Youth Ministry, the National Organization for the Continuing Education of the Roman Catholic Clergy, and other national organizations. NALM fosters the professional development and spiritual formation of career and volunteer lay ministers with educational resources, publications, workshops, retreats, speakers, consultation services, and competency-based standards for pastoral ministers, pastoral associates, and parish life coordinators. NALM also provides practical services and resources that support lay ministers through national forums, annual conferences, chapters, and affiliates. In 2003, NALM collaborated with the National Conference for Catechetical Leadership and the National Federation for Catholic Youth Ministry in the approval and publication of the National Certification Standards for Lay Ecclesial Ministers. NALM's membership consists of men and women who are lay, religious, and ordained who serve the church primarily as pastoral ministers, pastoral associates, directors of ministry formation programs, parish life coordinators, and social ministers. NALM has over 1,200 members.

Officers of the board are Diane Koorie, RSM, Chair; Frank Villaronga, Vice Chair; Nancy C. Joseph, Secretary; and Michael J. Witka, MPT, Treasurer. The Most Rev. Gerald F. Kicanas, Coadjutor Bishop of Tucson, Arizona, is the Episcopal Liaison. Christopher A. Anderson is the Executive Director.

The National Conference for Catechetical Leadership (NCCL) has approved standards for the certification of catechetical leaders. NCCL is a member association of 2,300 diocesan, parish, academic, and publishing catechetical leaders dedicated to advancing excellence in catechesis. Professional and associate membership is open to those who meet the appropriate membership criteria and are interested in supporting the mission of the organization. To carry out its mission, NCCL provides resources, national conferences, professional development, information, networking, research, and advocacy for its members and others engaged in catechetical ministry. NCCL members gather on a regular basis in the geographical provinces that make up the Latin and Eastern components of the church. Elected representatives from provinces and affiliated organizations compose the representative council, which along with the board of directors makes up the organization's major governance structures. NCCL grew out of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine movement in the 1930s when diocesan Confraternity for Catholic Doctrine directors first began to meet. NCCL became a separately incorporated organization in 1967. In 2003, NCCL collaborated with the National Association for Lay Ministry and the National Federation for Catholic Youth Ministry in the approval and publication of the National Certification Standards for Lay Ecclesial Ministers.

The NCCL Officers are Anne Roat, Lafayette, Indiana, President; Russell Peterson, Belleville, Illinois, Vice-President; Joanie McKeown, Grantsburg, Wisconsin, Secretary; Kathy Kleinlein, Venice, Florida, Treasurer. The National Federation for Catholic Youth Ministry, Inc. (NFCYM) has approved standards for the certification of youth ministry leaders. NFCYM was founded in 1982 to replace and expand upon the services of the National Catholic Youth Organization and most youth services of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops. Through a diocesan, regional, and national network encompassing the United States and its territories, the federation provides leadership, resources, programs, and networking to foster the ongoing development of ministry to, with, by, and for youth. The federation comprises 175 affiliated dioceses and 60 collaborating organizations from around the country, all ministering to youth as expressed in A Vision of Youth Ministry (1976) and Renewing the Vision: A Framework for Catholic Youth Ministry (1997). In 2003, NFCYM collaborated with the National Association for Lay Ministry and the National Conference for Catechetical Leadership in the approval and publication of the National Certification Standards for Lay Ecclesial Ministers. The National Association of Pastoral Musicians adopted this framework in 2006. Meetings for NFCYM members are held the last week in January. Officers of the board are Mr. Michal Horace, Archdiocese of Portland, Chair; Mr. Paul Mach, Diocese of Joliet, First Vice Chair; Mr. John Rinaldo, Second Vice-Chair and Ms. Michelle Maher, Diocese of Colorado Springs, Secretary/Treasurer. The Apostleship of the Sea of the United States of America (AOSUSA) has approved standards and procedures to certify maritime chaplains. In 1920, Catholic port ministry was conceived and developed in Glasgow, Scotland, to give Christian witness to those working and traveling by sea. In 1922, Pope Pius XI bestowed his blessings on the ministry and encouraged the AOSUSA to extend its mission to the oceans and shores of all the hemispheres. Today, the pastoral care of seafarers and all who travel by sea is entrusted to the AOSUSA, which is international in scope and functions under the Pontifical Council for the Pastoral Care of Migrants and Itinerant People. AOSUSA chaplains are appointed by their bishops. After appointment, chaplains are encouraged to attend the chaplaincy training program for port ministers in order to apply for certification. The AOSUSA has 125 chaplains serving in 65 ports of the United States.

Officers and board members are Rev. Sinclair K. Oubre, President, Port of Port Arthur; Mrs. Donna Giroir, Vice President, Port of New Orleans, LA, Rev. William E. Reynolds, Secretary, Iowa; and Deacon Patrick

The Minnesota Catholic Education Association (MCEA) has approved standards and procedures to certify parish catechetical leaders and youth ministry leaders. MCEA was established as a Minnesota non-profit corporation in 1994 for the purpose of providing a forum for discussing common ministerial issues for diocesan education and faith formation leaders. The mission of the MCEA's Leadership Forum is to be a voice for lifelong Catholic formation, education, and instruction for the six dioceses of Minnesota. Historically, the challenge always before the Leadership Forum is the question: "What can we do better together than alone?" The MCEA has used this self-imposed challenge in working to develop common certification standards and procedures for the six dioceses of Minnesota; Crookston, Duluth, New Ulm, St. Cloud, St. Paul/Minneapolis, and Winona.

This is the first time that multiple dioceses within a state have collaborated to develop a common certification process for lay ecclesial ministers that utilizes the National Certification Standards for Lay Ecclesial Ministers published by the National Association for Lay Ministry, the National Conference for Catechetical Leadership, and the National Federation for Catholic Youth Ministry. Although there is a common certification process, MCEA does not actually certify lay ecclesial ministers. Rather, the local ordinary within each arch/diocese grants certification to their respective lay ecclesial ministers.

MCEA Board of Directors: Mark Nuehring, Chairperson, MCEA Leadership Forum; Christopher Leifeld, Executive Director, Minnesota Catholic Conference; and Dr. Peter Noll, MCEA Executive Director.

The Federation of Diocesan Liturgical Commissions (FDLC) is a national organization composed primarily of members of diocesan liturgical commissions, worship offices and/or the equivalent diocesan liturgical structures. These diocesan liturgical personnel, appointed by their bishops, have responsibility for the promotion of the liturgical life of their dioceses. The FDLC serves as an official collaborating agent between the local churches through diocesan worship offices and liturgical commissions and the USCCB Bishops' Committee on Divine Worship.

The goal of the FDLC is to promote the liturgy as the heart of Christian life-especially in the parish community. As a pastoral, "locally-based," and professional organization, the FDLC shall be committed to assist the Catholic Church in the United States of America, its hierarchy, the local churches, and the individual bishops in their responsibilities of providing positive leadership in liturgical celebration, education, and development.

Any dues paying Diocese in the United States and its territories is eligible for membership in the FDLC. Membership entitles each Diocese to have two voting delegates at the National Meeting. In addition, the FDLC offers associate and industry memberships. Lisa A. Tarker is the Executive Director.

The Office of Continuing Christian Education has received initial approval of their certification standards and procedures to certify Parish Catechetical Leaders. Those leaders who have completed Basic Formation for Catechetical Leadership/Formación Básica para Liderazgo Catequético or an equivalent, have practical experience in catechetical leadership, and have full Catechist Certification or its equivalent, are candidates for this certification. Those called to this ministry who desire continuing formation in a program designed specifically for professional Parish Catechetical Leaders are strongly encouraged to attend the archdiocesan Catechetical Leadership Institute. This Institute consists of two years of formation within which participants develop the following: an understanding of the code of ethics for professional catechetical ministers; the necessary skills to minister in an inclusive, intercultural church and diocese; knowledge of how to apply catechetical leadership skills through an active process which includes prayer, reflection, fellowship, and networking with other catechetical leaders; the experience of being mentored; and participation in a practicum process each year. The Archdiocese is committed to the formation of catechetical leaders and is responding to a two-fold call: a national call for competent parish catechetical leaders and a local call from the catechetical leaders to be recognized through meeting national standards and all certification requirements of the archdiocese.

Anne Comeaux is the Director of the Office of Continuing Christian Education. Esperanza Monterrubio and Kathy Kelley are Associate Directors responsible for formation programs for Parish Catechetical Leaders in Galveston-Houston's Spanish and English speaking communities, respectively. Both Associates also oversee the certification process of parish catechetical leaders.

The Office of Youth Ministry has received initial approval of their certification standards and procedures to certify youth ministry leaders. Youth ministry leaders are devoted to serving the life and mission of the church through ministry to adolescents and are committed to growth in discipleship and service. As stated in the National Certification Standards for Lay Ecclesial Ministers, certification serves three goals: to give direction to the future of youth ministry, to recognize and affirm those persons already in ministry, and to promote faithful, competent, and accountable lay ecclesial ministry. The office offers formation and support of leadership for comprehensive youth ministry as articulated in Renewing the Vision: A Framework for Catholic Youth Ministry. The formation process, rooted in Catholic tradition, focuses on the specialized training of knowledge and skills for meeting the needs of all youth and for recruiting, training, and supervising volunteers. Brian Johnson is the Director of the office, and responsible for overseeing the certification processes.

The Pastoral Musician Certification process is connected to the Office for Christian Worship in the Department of Parish Life and Services. The office was strongly urged by the Department Director to develop a Certification Program for Pastoral Musicians for the Archdiocese of Detroit. The Worship Office as do other diocesan offices became integrated into the certification process of the Archdiocese which is directly connected to the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops Commission on Certification and Accreditation, (USCCB/CCA). The Worship Office works directly with the Certification Review Board to grant local certification for pastoral ministries utilizing the approved standards, procedures and national standards and competencies. In addition, musical competencies and experience are reviewed along with the theological competencies.

In addition the Worship Office provides ongoing formation for professional ecclesial ministers through conferences, workshops, and basic topic courses that the Worship Office develops and sponsors. It also links efforts with other diocesan offices and with the Catholic seminaries, universities and colleges in the geographic area and beyond for degree and certificate opportunities. The process has its own board with its members represented at the Certification Board for the Archdiocese of Detroit. Louis Canter is the director of this program working collaboratively with Daniel McAfee, Director of the Office for Christian Worship.
