

“Pastoral Care of the Sick and Dying: Theology and Practice of the Rites”

Bruce T. Morrill, S.J.

Thursdays, September 9 and September 16, 2010

12:00 p.m. to 1:00 p.m. Central Time

About the Presenter:

Bruce T. Morrill, S.J., is associate professor and graduate program director in the theology department at Boston College. In addition to numerous journal articles, book chapters, and reviews, he has published several books. In his most recent, Divine Worship and Human Healing, Bruce Morrill turns to the rites serving the sick, dying, deceased, and grieving to show why sacramental liturgy is so fundamental to the life of faith.

Program Overview:

Contemporary Catholics often do not associate liturgy with healing, and yet from the earliest centuries believers have experienced and described sacramental rites as acts glorifying God by healing people. These audio conferences will start with an overview of what the best of current biblical and historical scholarship tells us about the phenomenon of healing. We shall then turn to the anointing of the sick, viaticum for the dying, and the other pastoral rites associated with them in “Pastoral Care of the Sick: Rites of Anointing and Viaticum” (1983) to explore how these renewed rites grace us with treasures from the tradition that meets genuine human needs today.

Program Information: The audio conferences will begin promptly at 12:00 p.m. Central Time and conclude at 1:00 p.m. Participants will receive presentation materials in advance in order to prepare for the presentation. Fr. Bruce will begin the two sessions with a presentation, followed by facilitated participant exchange. The participants qualify for up to 3 CEHs for the two sessions. The fee is $20 per line for the two sessions. Toll-free telephone number, pass-code information, and presentation materials will be sent to participants via email one week before the first audio conference.

To Register: Please register early as we have a limited number of telephone lines available.
