

What Happens After the Interview Process is Complete?

Each of your interview team members has a vote to recommend or not recommend you for certification. The report of your interview team, which includes their recommendations and explanation for the recommendations, is submitted to the Certification Commission for their review and vote at their next scheduled meeting.

The results of the interviews will be reviewed and voted on at the next Certification Commission meeting. Once the votes are in, notification packets are prepared. The National Office has 30 days from the time of the Certification Commission's vote to notify chaplains of their decision. A notification packet with your Presenter's Reports and other pertinent information will be sent to you.

If you are approved for Board Certification, your Board Certification will be valid as of the day the Certification Commission votes to approve your Board Certification.
